You are probably wondering why we haven't been as chatty as usual! It's not because we haven't been busy, in fact, it's because we've been super busy!

Firstly, our Director, Tricia, decided to expand her international outlook and sign up to a Masters course in Peace and Conflict Studies at the University of Manchester. Studying on a part-time basis, mainly out of interest to better understand what on earth is going on in the world and why, it has actually given her additional insight into the effects of war and peace on trade. We'll therefore soon be adding a Business for Peace element to our website focussing on the peacebuilding potential of business. An unexpected bonus from her first year was a visit to Bosnia and Herzegovina to focus on the practical and ethical dilemmas, as well as sensitivities required, when carrying out research in peacebuilding environments. You can read more on her findings within our News & Blog section.

After an exhausting year of essay deadlines Tricia spent a few weeks in Argentina experiencing first hand the climate and culture from top to toe of this amazing country!

But the majority of our time this year was devoted to carrying out Secretariat services for the 15th Chemistry in the Oil Industry Symposium in Manchester. You can read more about this and our other 2017 events in our Project Gallery section.

We are anticipating another exciting year in 2018 and look forward to sharing our plans with you and hearing all your news too! In the meantime we wish you a relaxing and holiday season and a happy and healthy start to the new year!
